There are however many incidents which havs occurred, that are admirably adapted to pointen moral or adorn a tale and some have nsed with much effect by recent writers. Ve are glad to know that the field is to be once more entered upon and that Messrs. Sheldon & Company, of New York, the publishers of McClellan's anthorized reports, are about to issue a novel, which is said to be of a striking and original character, and which, it is expected, will attract great attention. The work is called "Dangerfield's Rest;" or, "Before the crm," and aims at presenting a general picrs of American life and manners as they were found before the civil war; interwsaving skstches of character and customs as they actually existed, with the exciting incidents of a vivid fiction. We are assured that it is enstructed with no ex parte design, but that, on the contrary, the anthor has striven to isw his subject judicially, giving neither nnitigated praiss nor blame to particular sec ons or factions. Such a work, if well exeated, would have an historical as well as a emporary value, and might be made the Internment of much good. [Correspondence of the Lonisville Journal.] DESCRIPTION OF GROBGIAN ROMM. NASHVILLE, April 6, 1864. I will give you a description of the present situation at Rome, Georgia, for the information of your readers. The heantiful and once thrifty city of Rome is situated on the neck of land between the Etowah and Oostaneula rivers, where they form a junction and empty into the Cooss, which latter river is navigated by steamboats in a sonthwesterly direction for some 180 miles to the rapids in the State of Alabsma. The city is regularly laid out, and contains about 4,000 inhabitants, and, could you take a stand upon Court house bill (which stands in the courter of ill (which stands in the center of the town), n the present month of April, you would say

The Mayor submitted the following annual message which was read, ordered to be published and that portion referring to the erection of station hauses was referred to Police Committee. Police Committee. The message reads as

Mayors Office, LOUISVILLE, April 7, 1864.

To the General Council. Gentlemen. It gives me great pleasure to report to you the flourishing condition of the city finances at the close of the fiscal year 1863. This is due in great measure to the fidelity and energy of the officers in collecting the current revenue as well as limiting the disannual report will be presented to you in due season, the following facts. The amount of taxes for City, School and Gas purposes, assessed was $300,000, paid over by the clectors before the close of the year or shorthereafter about $280,000; am't of R. R. a Water taxes listed $164,000; am't collect $152,000. The Auditor in his communication to the Council has estimated the delinquencie and cost of collection at 10 per cent, but i appears from the statement above that it is only about 63% or not to exceed 7 per cent, the history of the city finances and one eminently creditable to the collectors.

Under the ordinance of fiscal year 1862, authorizing a loan of $75,000 to pay old liabilities the balance of $40,000 was borrowed in the past year and so applied as to pay off all cuch claims presented, as well as settling for the State over $7000, on account of keeping contrabands, during the year. The Sinking Find Commissioners have bought for invest meuts 26 Leb. Br. Extension Bonds. 50 bond have been delivered up by the Jeffersonvill R. R. Co., on account af stock in suid com-pany turned over to them, $44,000 of stock in pany turned over to them, $44,000 or sweet in the Gas Co. have been bought, which were mostly paid for by the dividends in the hands of said company, halance to he paid out of the July dividends, giving the city $249,000 or July dividends, giving the city $249,000 or half ized by the charter; also hought with the city's dividende in eaid company and hold for investment 16 bonds, additional to previous uring the year, 82 of the Memphis Branch of those due next October, to be paid, to meet which there is in the Treasury about $18,500, leaving only 13 bonds to provide for. At the beginning of the year there was to the credit of the air years and the paid to the credit of the air years are the provided for the credit of the air years are the provided for the provided fo of the city revenue for current expenses about $10,000, at the close of the year about $40,000 At the beginning of the year there was to the credit of the Sinking Fund $86,000, at the close of the year, after paying all claims, an making investments, there remains about $73,000; total amount in the Treasnry March 9, 1864 $180,000 as compared to $132,000, on year previous, the remainder of the money belonging to Water, Vol. Relief, Honse of Refnge, Gas &c. Funds. Owing to the increased prices the current expenses of the past year were from 35 to 50 per cent more than ia he previous year and it may be safely estimted that for the year jnst hegun they will require about 50 per cent advance over last year. The Auditor estimates the current expensee of the year at $30,000 per month, without including constitutions. without including anything for sewers or bowldering or increase in the police force, and that the amount realized from city taxes, proper, will very little if any exceed that amount. By reference to his communication to Your Honorable Body made in January last, and published by order of the Board of Aldermen, it will he seen that he gives very close rigid estimate of the receipts and stock in said company, ont of $600,000 ant expenditures of the year now begun and he
